

Although this petition is a step in the right direction, the only true forward thinking move is to eliminate any and ALL requirements for morse code testing for any level of amateur radio license. This may seem to be a nice compromise, but not in line with the rest of the world or the future.